Academic Advising Terminology

Academic advisor: It means the faculty member and the like who are charged with supervising, directing and following up on the student during his studies at the university.

Study Plan: It is a set of compulsories, elective, and free courses, whose units constitute the graduation requirements that the student must successfully pass in order to obtain the degree of the specified specialization. For preparatory year students, it is the set of courses that must be successfully passed for assignment to one of the targeted colleges after the preparatory year program.

Study load: The total number of academic units that a student is allowed to register in a semester, and the upper and lower limits of the study load are determined according to the university's executive rules.

Overall rating: A description of the student's level of educational attainment during his/her study at the university.

Cumulative average: It is the result of dividing the total points obtained by the student in all the courses he has studied since joining the university by the total units prescribed for those courses.

Semester average: It is the result of dividing the total points obtained by the student by the total units assessed for all the courses he studied in any semester. Points are calculated by multiplying the unit assessed by the weight of the grade obtained by the student in each course he studied.

Registration Folding: It means the termination of the student's relationship with the university, whether through dismissal, withdrawal, or interruption.

Minimum course load: It is the minimum number of units of study that the student registers during the academic level.

Withdrawal for the study: It means that the student does not continue studying for the academic year or semester in which he registered with an acceptable excuse while counting the withdrawal period within the regular period of graduation.

Academic warning: The notice given to the student because his cumulative average is below the minimum set forth in these regulations.

Academic Advising: It is the counseling activity carried out by a faculty member in order to assist students academically, and this includes all the various academic advising work directly related to undergraduate students.

Annual Academic Advising Plan: It is the work plan that clarifies the general academic guidance objectives throughout the academic year and is presented at the beginning of the year through a meeting of the members of the Academic Advising Unit. It includes the semester plan (first semester, second semester, summer semester), and links the objectives of the semester plans directly to the annual plan.

Academic Advising Concept

Academic Advising is social and psychological guidance, careful follow-up of students' problems, trying to provide advice and recommendation to them, and working to help the student develop his skills and abilities and gradually move in making his own decisions.

Therefore, it simplifies and facilitates administrative procedures in order to provide the best and quality services to the student.

Importance of Academic Advising

Academic advising is considered one of the most important inputs to the university education system in the faculties of Shaqua University. It is an important link towards guiding students to achieve the best performance during the teaching and learning processes in order to obtain the best educational outcomes and the best possible academic achievement.

It helps students to adapt to the university environment and seize the opportunities available to them by providing them with basic knowledge and skills that raise the level of their educational attainment.

Academic Advising Goals

- Introducing students to the university life, the study rules and regulations, and the services provided to them by the university.
- Helping students to solve problems and obstacles that directly affect their academic achievement.
- Following-up students' progress during their studies.
- Helping students to get acquainted with the scientific disciplines that suit their intellectual and intellectual abilities in a way that guarantees them the best ways to plan for the future.
- Encouraging outstanding students to continue and to make good use of the methods provided by the university to help them in academic achievement.
